FOREIGN NEWS!

PER BARK A. A. ELDRIDGE.

Dates to December 20.

By the above packet, which arrived on the 7th, we have received five days later news than what was reported in our last issue. The following embraces the more important items : A second Battle with Hood, fought near

Nashville, Dec. 15. WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Dec. 17-8:35 A. M -The following is an official report of the great victory achieved yesterday by Gen. Thomas and his gallant army over the rebel forces under Hood, in front of Nashville, received this morning at 1 o'clock. One of the surprising circumstances connected with the great achievement is the small loss suffered by our troops, evincing, among other things, the admirable skill and caution of Gen. Thomas in his dispositions of battle. In our rejoicings at the defeat of the enemy, thanks are due the Almighty for His protection of our gallant officers and soldiers in the great conflict they have passed through. The report of Gen. I homas, and also an unofficial report, containing the interesting details, are subjoined :

Herdquarters Department of the Cumberland, 8 miles from Nushville, 6 o'clock, P. M., Dec. 15 .- I have the honor to report that the enemy has been pressed at all points to-day on his line of retreat to Brentwood Hills. Brig-Gen. Hatch, of Wilson's Corps of cavalry, on the right, turned the enemy's left, and captured a large number of prison rs-the number not being yet reported. Major-Gen. Schofield's Corps, next on the left of the line, carried several hills and captured a number of prisoners, and 6 pieces of artillery. Brevet Major Gen. Smith, next on the left of SchoSeld, carried the salient point of the enemy's line, with McMillan's brigade, of M'Carthy's division, capturing 16 pieces of artillery, two brigadier-generals, and about 2,000 prisoners. Brig-Gen Garraud's division of Smith's command, next on the left of McArthur's division, carried the enemy's entrenchments, capturing all the artillery and troops of the enemy on the line. Brig. Gen. Wood's troops, on the Franklin turupike, took up the assault, capturing the enemy's entrenchments, and also 8 pieces of artillery, with something over 100 prisoners, and drove the enemy within one mile of Brentwood Hills. Major-Gen. Stedman, commanding detachments of the different armies of the militaby division of the Mississippi, most nobly supported Gen. Wood's left, and bore a most honorable part in the operations of the day. I have o dered pursuit to be controued at daylight, although the troops are very much fatigued. The utmost enthusiasm pre-

Section 2. The Minister of Finance shall credit to the appropriations of 1862 and 1863 all the amounts appropriated by the Act approved August 23d, 1862, and remaining unexpended on the 31st of March, 1864, not otherwise specifically re-appropriated; and such amounts shall be deemed no longer available for the objects for which they were originally appropriated. SECTION 3. The Minister of Finance shall continue to pay the salaries appropriated by this Act, the compensation of soldiers and constables, the expenses of the Fire Department, of the Sureme and Circuit Courts, Exchequer Bills and Government tocks, and the interest accruing thereon, together with the interest on the School Fund invested in the Treasury, until the 30th day of June, 1866, unless new appropriations are made Section 4. The Minister of Finance shall not cause, or allow Secrion 5. It shall be lawful for the Heads of Departments, in cases where special appropriations may fall short, to apply to the same the surplus of other special appropriations not required to be expended, so as to make up the deficiency, each Head of Department duly accounting to the Legislature for such transr; but in no case shall the appropriations for internal improvements in one gubernatorial division be transferred to another.

Secreton 6. No person holding one or more offices, for which salaries may be provided, shall be authorized to draw for more than the salary of the highest grade of office held by him, if the salary of either of the offices held by him, shall amount to two thousand dollars or more per annum, and he shall be entitled to no other or further compensation. SECTION 7. This Act shall take effect and be in force, from and after the day of its passage.

Approved this Tenth day of January, A. D., 1865. KAMEHAMEHA E. I must not forget to report the operations of Brig .-Gen. Johnson, in successfully driving the enemy, with the co-operation of the gunboats under Commander Smith, from their established batteries on the Cumberland river, below the city of Nashville, and of the success of Brig. Gen. Caxton's brigade, in covering our right and rear, in the operations of yesterday and to-day. Although I have no report of the number of prisoners captured by Johnson's or Caxton's commands, I know they have a large number. The prisoners captured yesterday greatly exceed in number that reported by telegraph last evening. The woods, fields and entrenchments are strewn with the enemy's small arms, abandoned in their retreat. In conclusion, I am happy to state that all this has been effected with but a very small less to us. Our loss probably does not exceed 3,000, very few of GEO. H. THOMAS, Major General Commanding.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 16 .- During last night Hood with. drew his right from the river, and took a position covering Hillsboro, Granny White's, and the Franklin turnpike, which lines had been carefully prepared for this contingency. He was driven from the first line easily, but the second was very stubbornly defended, and at last heavily assaulted three times before succeeding. It was carried, however, and 20 pieces of artillery, 205 men, including Gen. Jackson, with the remnant of his division, were taken, the enemy forced back two miles, and their army broken in two parts-one part on White's turnpike and the other on the Franklin road, with a range of bluffs and hills between them. Stedman and wood are pressing down on them. A. J. Smith, Schofield and Carey drove the former out ; and Hood cannot make such another day's fight while Thomas is in good condition to press him. Everybody-both white and STANTON. black-acted spendidly.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 .- The following unofficial despatch has been received from Nashville the 16th. 2 P. M : Hood has fallen back, apparently doing his best to get away, while Thomas is pressing him with great vigor, frequently capturing guns and men. Everything so far is perfectly successful, and the prospect is fair to crush Hood's army. STANTON.

Washington, Dec. 17 - Nothing has been heard from Thomas to-day. Our official despatches state that the Provost Marshal at Louisville reports 5,000 prisoners and 30 pieces of artillery already secured. It is ascertained that in the transmitting of Thomas' report last night, a telegraphic mistake was made at Louisville or Nashville, in the estimated number of our casualties. The despatch written by Thomas stated his whole loss would not exceed 8,000-very few killed. A despatch from Lexington this evening states that on the 18th inst., at Kingsport, Tenn., Burbridge bad a fight with Basil Duke's brigade, formerly John Morgan's, and routed it with a loss to the enemy of 150 killed, wounded, prisoners and their trains, and Dick Morgon, brother of John, was cap-

(Signed) About Sherman.

Washington, Dec. 17 .- Dispatches have been received to-day from Gen. Foster, who had a personal interview, on the morning of Wednesday, the 14th inst., with Sherman, at Fort McAllister, which had been taken by assault on the preceding day. Savannah was closely besieged, and its capture, with the rebel forces there, confidently expected; it was to be urrounded in two days if not surrendered. Gen.

herman would open his batteries upon it. Gen. Coster reports that Sherman's army was in splendid condition, having lived during the march on turkeys, chickens, sweet potatoes and other good things, in the richest part of Georgia. NEW YORK, Dec. 19 .- The Richmond Sentenel of the 16th says : " Gen. Foster is quiet under his failure on the Savannah Railroad. Sherman has seemingly despaired of opening a communication with the sea at Beaufort. The capture of Fort McAllister is announced, but the liability of its capture has been well understood. Sherman will now be able to get supplies by the way of Assabaw Sound, and should be capture Savannah, will have exchanged a city in the interior for a city on the coast which had been completely closed to commerce since the loss of Fort Pulaski in 1862."

FORTRESS MONROE, Dec. 17 .- The steamers Northern Light and Varuna arrived from Charleston last night, with 800 released Union prisoners. At the time of sailing all the rigging of the men-of-war and other vessels composing Admiral Dahlgren's fieet were gaily hung with colors, in token of the success of some movement of Sherman's, the exact nature of which could not be learned.

Arming the Slaves. NEW YORK, Dec. 19 .- The Richmond Enquirer of the 25th has a semi-official editorial in favor of the arming of the slaves, which says that Gen. Lee is in favor of the proposition. The Enquirer says: "When we supplicate European nations for help, we must be prepared to receive it on their conditions, which will be the abolition of slavery." It also asks -" Shall we prolong the war, sacrifice our children and destroy our country for the sake of negroes?"

my far more than we love slavery." Sailing of Porter's Fleet. New York, Dec. 17 - The Evening Post publishes a detailed statement of the vessels composing Admiral Porter's fleet, which started upon an expedition on Monday Dec. 12, from Hampton Roads. There are in all sixty-four vessels, carrying 567 guns.

Foreign Summary.

The Prince of Wales is about to erect a new palace at Abergeldie, Scotland.

The late Tom Marshall, of Kentucky, had a genius like Greek fire, and he was always trying to quench it with whiskey. Gen. Sherman gave Hood a thundering blow with his sword, but has run him clean through and through with his pen. - Prentice. Prince Humbert, of Italy, walked all through the sewers of Paris to indulge his curiosity. The splendid United States steam frigate Franklin was launched last Saturday, 17th Sept., at Portsmouth, Kittery, Maine. She is 265 feet long between perpendiculars, and 306 feet over all; extreme depth, 461 feet; capacity, B.: 684 tons; weight of vessel about 2,500 tons; propeller 21 feet in diameter. She is pierced for fifty guns. The rebel ram Tennessee, captured by Admiral Farragut in the Mobile Bay, and now known as the United States iron-clad steamer Tennessee lies in the Mississippi, off New Orleans. She has been overhauled, and new ventilators put in which renders her a comfortable vessel.

" People may say what they will about the country air being good for 'em," said Mrs. Partington, "and how they can fat up on it; for my part, I think it is owing to the vittles Air may do for camomiles and other reptiles that live on it, but mankind needs more flourishing food."

PRESIDENTIAL MAJORITIES .- In three of the States, McClellan received an aggregate majority of 82,513 votes; in twenty two States, Lincoln's aggregate majority was 240,298 votes. Lincoln's preponderating popular majorities in all the States voting, sum up 307,785

KEEPING OUT THE DEVIL -Brigham Young lately said in a sermon: "A gentleman said to me, 'I would like to establish a billiard table and drinking saloon in your city; you must have such piaces here by-and-by, any how.' May be we will and may be we will not; we will see whether God Almighty will reign among his people, or whether the devil will. I shall keep such Christian institutions out of the city

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 .- A bearer of dispatches from Admiral Dahlgren arrived this morning with the following dispatch to the Secretary of the Navy: "Flag Ship Philadelphia, Port Royal, December 12. To Gideon Welles, Secretary : It is my happiness to apprise the Department that Gen. Sherman, with his army, is near Savannah and I am in communication with him. In view of his probable arrival I had stationed several steamers at different points, and had come from Telapenny yesterday in order to be at hand. Captain Duncan states that our forces were in contact with the rebels a few miles outside of Savannah. He says Sherman's arroy is not in want DAHLGREN."

GEN. GRANT ON THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION .- The New York Tribune of November 14th affirms that the announcement of the result of the Presidential election produced universal delight in Grant's army. That gallant General himself sent the following congratulatory dispatch to Washington :

CITY POINT, Thursday, Nov. 10-10:30 P. M. Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War .-Enough now seems to be known to say who is to hold the reins of Government for the next four years. Congratulate the President for me for the double

The election having passed off quietly, no bloodshed or riot throughout the land, is a victory worth more to the country than a battle won. Rebeldom and Europe will construe it so. U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General.

The rebel President has received considerable condemnation for his unfortunate Macon speech, which, says the Budget of Fun, may be the un Macon of him. The Charleston Mercury at first declared it a forgery, but when the Richmond papers copied it and commented on it, the South Carolinians were unanimous in their blame-the Mercury saying that he must have been mad. The most singular thing is that the Richmond press indorse it. This evidently proceeds from the fact that Jeff. Davis delivered the speech in a Virginian point of view, since it is founded on the idea that every State ought to send troops to save Richmond, since if that goes all is gone Governor Brown, whom Davis called a scoundrel by implication, says that Mr. Davis' remark is founded

iner of November 9th says: It becomes every day more likely that the Dutch Gap canal will shortly be finished; that ironclads can pass through it; and that an immense fleet, firing on Drewry's and Chaffin's bluffs, with the view of clearing the banks of the river, will be the most important feature of Grant's last effort to take Richmend. This canal, at Dutch Gap, is a self-imposed toll. During the passage of Grant's army to the south side, he or Butler found that our Confederate ironclads would come down and attack him. To prevent this they sunk vessels in the river near Curle's Neck. The Confederates planted batteries on the bank; the enemy were unable to take up their own obstructions under the fire of these batteries, and the river has been closed to the enemy's fleet from that day to this He has been compelled to dig a canal to pass his own obstructions. Such is the value of obstructions in the channel of a river. With good batteries in the neighborhood and sharpshooters on the banks, no fleet, ironclad or otherwise, can pass by them nor get them out of the way. The lesson was learned at Sebastopol harbor, repeated in the Pelho by the Chinese, and again at Drewry's Bluff in 1862. The obstructions hastily sunk in the river saved Richmond after the Merrimac was blown up. If the obstructions in the river below Chaffin's Bluff are in proper condition and properly situated, the labor on the Dutch Gap canal will be a labor lost. But by obstructions only, such as vessels sunk in channels, can rivers be successfully defended since the invention of ironclads. Even wooden vessels can run by stationary batteries, and no batteries are of avail against ironclads, when there are no such obstructions to bring them to a halt under are. Torpedoes may be effective, but they are new inventions and not fully proven. They are also uncertain things. They get wet; they get rusty. Often they fail to go off at the right time and the right place. But obstructions formed of sunken wrecks are proven. Their effect is well known, and they are the things which sensible men, who wish seriously to succeed in the defence of the city, will never forget or discard.

Earl Russell had replied to the recent manifesto of the Confederate Congress, expressing equal frendship for the North and South, deprecating war and pledging England to strict neutrality. He says, in reply to J. Slidell and Dudley Mann: "I have had the honor to receive a copy which you have sent me of the manifesto issued by the Congress of the so-called Confederate States of America. Her Majesty's Government deeply deplore the nature of the struggle between the Northern and Southern States of the formerly united republic of North America. Great Britain has since 1783 remained, with the exception of a short period, connected by friendly relations with both the Northern and Southern States, and since the commencement of the cruel war which broke out in 1861, her Majesty's Government has continued to entertain sentiments of friendship equally for the North and South. Of the causes of rupture, her Majesty's Government has never pretended to judge; they deplored the commencement of the sanguinary struggle, and anxiously look forward to a period of its termination. In the meantime, they are convinced they must counsel the interests of peace and the rights of all parties by observing a strict and impartial neutrality. Such neutrality her Majesty has faithfully maintained and will continue to main-

"(Signed,) The London Times says: "From Earl Russell's letter England finds no favor either with North or South. First he snubs the Confederates; they are It concludes-" We hate, detest and despise the eneonly so-called Confederate States, and have yet to establish their right to an appellation. This, too, is a compliment to the Union States, but there follows a counter shub to the United States; they are the formerly United Republic, but to say they were formerly united is to imply they are now disunited, and to acknowledge there was an existence of Confederate States. Earl Russell seems to be apparently afraid that neuter does not mean both, therefore he would maintain, even in words, strict neutrality; that it is necessary to avoid any demonstration of friendship to either belligerents.'

The London Times thinks that President Lincoln will make some attempt to close the war by negotiat-

The Federal troops are to be immediately withdrawn from Holstein, under a demand from Prussia. A meeting was held at Bristol to celebrate President Lincoln's election. Cheers were given for Jeff. Davis and Gen. Lee, and growls for Butler and Lincoln. A rush was then made for the platform, and the speakers were driven away from it. The police finally cleared the room.

Lord Lyons has not resigned, but is going home on six months furlough.

The Daily News doubts if the South will arm the slaves, and thinks the proposal is a promise of the approaching end of the war and slavery.

It is said the Florida was taken by surprise with everything on board. Her papers may be found to implicate many foreign officials in sympathy with the Richard Cobden addressed a great meeting at Rochdale, England, November 23d. He favored nonintervention in either European or American affairs. Adverting to the war in America, he asked why the South, as in other cases of rebellion, had not put forth its grievances. The reason, he thought, was that they had but one-they wanted to consolidate, perpetuate and extend slavery. Instead of stating their grievances, they simply demand to be let alone. This is the cry that has secured so much European sympathy for the insurrection. He regarded the peaceable Presidential election as one of the most sublime spectacles in the whole history of the world, and said the people who could do that had given the world an example such as never was presented before by any other people. They resolved, notwithstanding their great sterifices, that slavery should be abelished. He reiterated his belief that he should not live to see two independent States on the continent of North America. The Paris Temps and Journal des Debats construe the result of the Presidential election as evidence that the war is now to be prosecuted with vigor until the South is completely subjugated. The former says it heralds forth the approaching re-establishment of the Union and the final extirpation of slavery.

The Herald's London letter says: Responsible parties are making arrangements for the speedy construction of a telegraph to America, by way of Greenland and Iceland.

The Herald's Paris letter says: The effect here of the talk about freeing the Southern negro in behalf of the rebels, is to increase interest on their side. Convince the majority of the French people that slavery is to end, and they will favor recognition. The Emperor's real desire is that the South shall abolish slavery and become an independent power. Southerners in Paris encourage the idea that this will be the final result.
